Getting ready

Print fronts and backs double-sided (flip on the long edge) and cut out the cards. No duplex printer? Cut out both sides and glue them back to back. Use the blank card to write your own riddle.

How to play

One player is the riddle master. They draw a card without looking at the answer and read clue 1. Whoever guesses the animal gets 3 points. If nobody knows, read clue 2 (2 points), then clue 3 (1 point). At the very end the riddle master may make the animal sound.

Winning

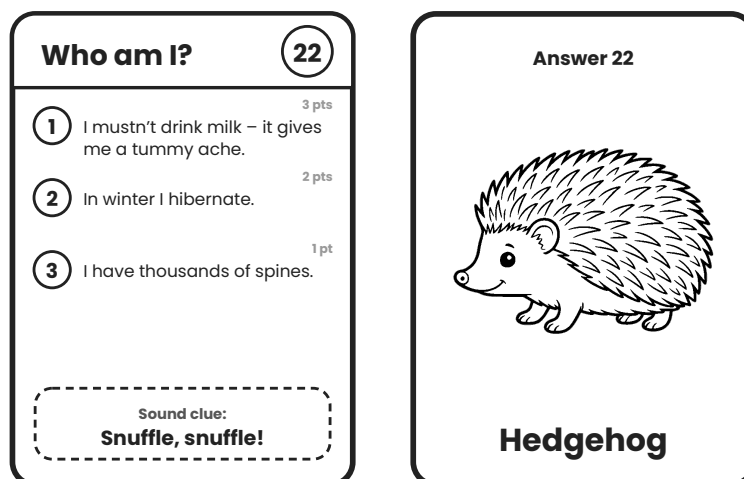

Whoever guesses correctly becomes the next riddle master. After all cards, the player with the most points wins. Corn kernels or beans are great for counting.

For younger kids

Start with the animal sound, or read all three clues and guess together. The answer side also works as a picture card to point at.

All true!

Every clue is a real fact – for example, barn owls don't hoot, they screech, and common frogs purr softly instead of croaking loudly.
